National Health Insurance, National Pension and Tax

Persons Residing in Japan are Required to be Enrolled in a Public Health Insurance System.

Inquire at National Health Insurance Division for details.

In Japan, there are schemes for medical insurance (National Health Insurance and Employee's Health Insurance) and pension (National Pension and Employee's Pension). The insurance scheme allows its members to receive medical care with a relatively low financial burden and the pension scheme provides benefits for over 65-year-old persons, persons with disability, as well as providing death benefits for a family member who shared livelihood with the insured person when he/she deceases. Both Japanese nationals and non-Japanese nationals are obliged to enroll in the insurance and pension schemes.

Public Medical Insurance is an important system which covers our medical expenses. Within the system, there are the National Health Insurance and Employee's Health Insurance. Insurers of the either insurance system will have an equal access to medical care throughout Japan.

1. National Health Insurance (Kokumin Kenko Hoken 国民健康保険)

If you are not covered by the Employee's Health Insurance or receiving livelihood protection, you are required to enroll in the National Health Insurance.

2. Employee's Health Insurance

The Employees' Health Insurance covers medical expenses for employees of a company, etc. There is a system for dependents where family members whose annual income is less than 1.3 million yen are also be covered.

Taxation System

-Year-end Tax Adjustments (Nenmatsu Chosei 年末調整)

Withholding income tax is deducted from your salary which your company then pays to the government as income tax. However, income tax should be calculated by multiplying the tax rate after deducting expenses. In Japan, companies often do the calculation on behalf of their employees which is called "year-end tax adjustment". For this purpose, companies collect information from their employees at the end of the year such as "proof for life insurance payment" and "dependents".

In the year-end adjustment, the actual tax amount is calculated by deducting various expenses, etc. as mentioned above. If the amount of the withholding income tax exceeded the actual tax amount, you will be reimbursed the balance. If withholding income tax is not deducted from your salary, you will have to pay the amount based on the calculation.

-Filing a Tax Return (Kakutei Shinkoku 確定申告)

You must file your tax return if your company does not make a year-end adjustment indicated above, if you are self-employed, if you receive salaries from more than one company, or if you have purchased a property. If you are not sure about how to file your tax return, please inquire at a Tax Office near you or the Tax Division of Tsukuba City Hall. (You need to file your tax return between February 16 to March 15.)

Even if you do not have any income for the year, you need to declare that you have no income. (You also need to declare if you are receiving a tax-exempt scholarship.)

-Income Tax (Shotoku-zei 所得税) (National Tax)

Income tax is imposed on personal income (after expenses deducted) such as salary from a company.

-National Health Insurance Tax (Kokumin Kenko Hoken-zei 国民健康保険税: The annual amount will be divided into 9 payments starting from July every year.)

If you are registered as a resident of Tsukuba City, you have to enroll in the National Health Insurance of Tsukuba City (unless you are enrolled in other health insurance program such as Employees' Health Insurance at your work place). The amount of the National Health Insurance Tax will be calculated based on the previous year's income of the whole household.

-Municipal Tax (Shimin-zei/Kenmin-zei 市民税・県民税: Also called "City and Prefecture Residence Tax" and the annual amount will be divided into 4 payments starting from June every year.)

Municipal Tax should be paid to the municipality where you are registered as a resident as of January 1. The tax is levied based on your previous year's income. Some companies deduct the tax from your salary (called "Special Collection"), but if that is not the case, you have to pay at a post office, bank, convenience store or the City Hall using a payment slip that will be delivered to your home (called "Regular Collection").

-Light Motor Vehicle Tax (Kei-Jidosha-zei 軽自動車税) (May every year)

If you own a motor bike or light motor vehicle (Kei-Jidosha) as of April 1, you have to pay the tax. If you own a vehicle over 660cc, you have to pay an Auto Tax. If you are given a car or a motor bike from someone and do not complete the procedure to change its owners, then the person who gave you the car or moto bike will be charged the tax. You will also need to complete the procedure when you get rid of your vehicle.

-Property Tax (Kotei Shisan-zei 固定資産税: The annual amount will be divided into 4 payments starting from April every year.)

If you own land or properties as of January in the City, you have to pay the tax.

Please see the multilingual website of Tsukuba City's International Exchange Office for the date of payment.

Important Points to Note Regarding Taxation

1. When you leave a company:

If you have unpaid municipal tax for previous year, you need to either have your company deduct the remaining amount from your last salary or pay the remaining amount yourself to the City Hall.

2. When you leave Japan:

There may be some remaining Municipal Tax (Residence Tax), National Health Insurance Tax, etc. that need to be paid, so please pay them all before you leave Japan.

3. What happens if you do not pay your taxes?

You must pay taxes on time. For a delinquent payment, a collection letter will be sent. When the tax payment is overdue, there will be a delinquent charge which is calculated based on the number of days delayed. If you do not respond to the letter, there may be cases where the unpaid taxes are deducted from your savings or salaries, or your property such as a car is seized. Please contact the City Hall before this happens.

4. Exemption for dependents, etc., for relatives living outside Japan

In order to reduce the amount of withholding tax, you need to fill in and submit "Application for (change in) Exemption for Dependents of Employment Income Earner" which is provided from your company every year.

The requirements for dependents are as follows.

As of December 31, i) The dependent is a relative of a person who receives a salary*, ii) The dependent shares the same livelihood with the person receiving a salary, and iii) The dependent's annual income is under 480,000 JPY for dependents living outside Japan (under of 1,030,000 JPY for dependents living in Japan).

Notes:

*Relatives include your spouse, children, grandchildren, brothers and sisters, as well as your spouse's parents, grandparents, brothers and sisters. Dependents under 16-year-old are not eligible for the dependency exemption under the income tax, but may be eligible for the exemption or deduction under the municipal tax.

Even if you do not live with your dependent, you can meet the requirements by proving in writing that you send living expenses to your relative living (or studying) outside Japan. If you are remitting living expenses to your relative living outside Japan and wish to apply for the exemption for dependents, you need to provide the following documents:

"Documents Concerning Relatives" – An original document from your country that proves the relationship with your relatives.

"Documents Concerning Remittance" – A document issued by a financial institution that indicates overseas remittance.

If you are sending money to more than one relative, etc., you have to send the money individually so that you can obtain remittance statement for each relative.

 Income under 480,000JPY of relatives living outside Japan will not be included.

Delinquent payment for Municipal Tax (City Tax), etc., may result in cases where you are not able to receive welfare services or subsidies from the City.

Welfare for Senior Residents

-For Nursing Insurance (Kaigo Hoken 介護保険), inquire at Nursing Care Insurance Division

Nursing Insurance is an insurance system which allows persons over 65-year-old to access nursing care services with less financial burden (depending on the illness, persons aged between 40 and 64 are eligible). Persons over 65-year-old are required to pay an individual premium for nursing insurance (persons aged between 40 and 64 are required to pay an individual premium for nursing insurance, in addition to medical insurance). If you wish to use the nursing services, you need to file an application, and after being certified the level of nursing care you need, your nursing care plan will be established, and you can use services such as day-care services, assistance services at home, wheelchair rental, renovating a house and nursing care facilities for 10% to 30% of the whole fee.

When you sign a lease for an apartment or house, you will need to pay a security deposit, key money, and real estate agent's commission fee in addition to the monthly rent. The security deposit should be returned to you when you terminate the lease, but often the cost of repairs to the apartment/house such as repairing the floor or replacing wallpaper is deducted from the deposit and the remaining amount will be returned to you. Rent should be always paid in advance and is due at the end of the previous month. It is recommended that you visit a real estate with someone who understands Japanese, because you will need to go through various procedures when signing a lease. Please note that one month's notice is required to the landlord or real estate agency when you terminate the lease.

For Municipal Housings Inquire at Housing Policy Division

Municipal housing (there are city-owned and prefecture-owned housings) is built by the City or Prefecture Government and is for low-income persons/households who need affordable housing. Applications for municipal housing are accepted four times a year (April, July, October and January) and are generally accepted the first 2 weeks of these months. Disaster Prevention

Disaster prevention means to prepare for a future disaster. Japan is an earthquake-prone country and it is said that a huge earthquake will hit the Tokyo area in the near future. Japan is also susceptible to typhoons which bring strong wind and heavy rain. If a typhoon makes a direct hit, rivers may flood due to heavy rain. Furthermore, there are other risks such as fires and nuclear accidents. It is important to have a plan for these emergencies.

Disaster Risk

Do you know what kind of disaster risks there are in Tsukuba City? Prepare for a future disaster so that you can remain calm when it actually happens.

Tsukuba City's official hazard map shows areas that are vulnerable to a major disaster.

- Areas that can be affected by landslide and flooding caused by heavy rain:
 - Landslide Prone Area of Mt. Tsukuba (mudslide) and Yatagawa (steep terrain area)
 - Anticipated Inundation Area of Kokai River and Sakura River.
- Earthquake

A seismic intensity (Shindo) scales categorize the intensity or severity of ground shaking at a given location from an earthquake.

Shindo 1 -2: Most people do not feel shaking.

Shindo 3-4: Most people feel shaking.

Shindo lower 5: Dishes and books fall off shelves.

Shindo upper 5: Furnitures and block walls fall.

Shido lower 6: Wooden and less earthquake-resistant homes may lean.

Shindo upper 6: Wooden and less earthquake-resistant homes may collapse.

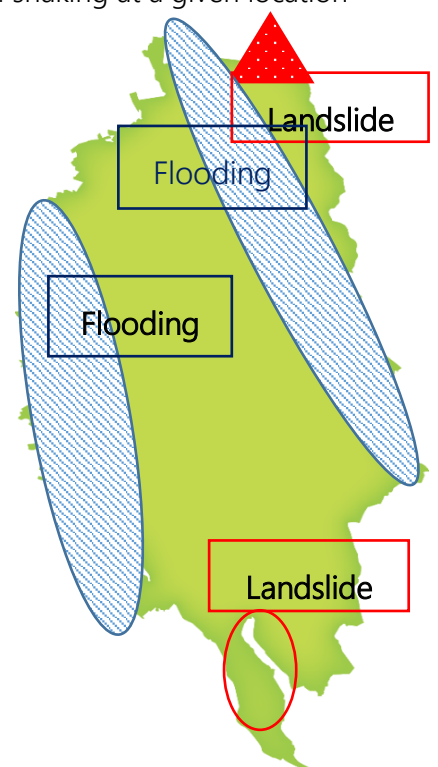

Shindo 7: Less earthquake-resistant homes may collapse.

- When an earthquake of shindo 5 or above occurs, there may be cases where houses are destroyed and electricity and water are cut off.
- If the ground liquefies, houses and other structures may lean.
- During a disaster, there are cases where you cannot use trains or motorways.
- Most shops will be closed which makes it difficult to buy gasoline and fuel.
- In the case of a major earthquake, there will be many aftershocks and another big earthquake may occur a few days later.

Self-help, mutual-help and public-help

To minimize damage during a disaster, "self-help, mutual-help and public-help" are very important. "Self-help" means to prepare yourself and your family in advance to protect your and your family's lives and property. "Mutual-help" means to help each other in a community in order to reduce damage to the community. "Public-help" means comprehensive disaster prevention measures by the governments.

"Public-help": If a disaster like the Great East Japan Earthquake occurs in Tsukuba City, the City Hall will set up a disaster response headquarter to assess damage, open shelters to arrange and provide supplies, support disaster recovery and gather and distribute information.

However, in the event of a large-scale disaster, there may be cases where public disaster management authorities cease to function due to the damage caused by the disaster, as well as firefighters become overwhelmed by multiple fires. Thus, the function of “public-help” becomes restricted which makes “self-help” and “mutual-help” more important.

As part of “self-help”, it is most important to prepare for a future disaster.

Hardware stores and other stores have a section dedicated for emergency goods and goods that can be stockpiled where you can buy foods with long shelf lives and products useful in case of a disaster. You can see the list of items that you should get ready below. In particular, items such as sanitary products, nappies, baby formula, baby food, towels, baby carrier, diapers for elderly persons who need care, and medicine may take a while to be delivered as relief supplies, so it is recommended that you stockpile these items at home. At the time of a disaster, it will be difficult to provide foods that meet religious requirements and/or allergy restrictions, so please stockpile foods that meet the requirement and have long shelf lives. Also, please keep a mobile battery as well, because smartphone and cellphones are essential tools to communicate and to gather information.

It is also important to gain knowledge related to disasters.

Do you know what these pictures below represent?

1. Evacuation site: Parks and Squares near you where you can temporarily protect yourself.
2. Evacuation Shelters: Every elementary and junior high schools and some community centers in the city.
⇒ Where you can stay when you find it dangerous or difficult to live your own house. Also, being places to distribute relief supplies.

Please check the location of evacuation sites and shelters near you in advance. It is a good idea to decide a meeting place so that you know where to go if you cannot get in touch with your family. Various companies and organizations also provide disaster-related information in multiple languages, so please have a look. During a disaster, in order to prevent total failure of communication lines, the communication lines for regular phone calls will be deliberately restricted, so please secure means of communication such as LINE or messenger so that you can get in touch with your family and friends.

Free mobile app is available that notifies you of information such as earthquake early warning which predicts the location, timing and intensity of an earthquake immediately after it occurs, as well as Tsunami warning, volcano warning, special weather warning, heatstroke warning and information on missile launches. The app is available in English, Chinese (traditional and simplified), Korean and Japanese.

Guidelines for Evacuation Advisories

In response to the heavy rainfall in July 2018, Japan's Cabinet Office revised the guidelines for evacuation advisories and started to apply in June 2019.

Warning level

A disaster is underway.

Take the best action possible to protect your life.

Warning level

Go to an evacuation shelter as soon as possible.

If it seems dangerous to go to a public shelter, evacuate to a safer place near you or to a safer place in your house.

Warning level

People who need more time to evacuate (elderly persons, persons with disability, infants, etc.) and their carers should start evacuation. The rest of the people should get ready to evacuate.

Warning level

Look at the hazard map and check what you need to do for evacuation.

If you are in an area where Tsukuba City issued a warning level 3 or 4, please evacuate as soon as possible!

Warning level

Prepare for a disaster to become serious.

How to Protect your Pet during a Disaster

Have you thought about what happens to your pet during a disaster? If you evacuate to an evacuation shelter with your pet, you will not be able to bring the pet to a common living space. In principle, owners will have to "self-help" themselves regarding pets in the time of a disaster. Please check the disaster risks of your house and find a place to leave your pet in advance. Once you find a place, please check the following points as well.

- Whether or not you can leave your pet during a disaster, fee, how to drop-off and pick-up, food for your pet, how long you take your pet for a walk, cage, pet carrier bag, etc.

Note: You can see how you can protect your pet during a disaster in a booklet which you can find on the official website of Ministry of Environment:

"https://www.env.go.jp/nature/dobutsu/aigo/2_data/pamph/h3010a/a-1b.pdf"

and "https://www.env.go.jp/nature/dobutsu/aigo/2_data/pamph/h2703/pdf/full.pdf".

There are options other than evacuating to an evacuation site or shelter.

Many people tend to think that they will be safe as long as they get to an evacuation shelter during a disaster. Evacuation shelters are set up to provide places to stay for people who find it difficult to live in their own houses, because their houses have either collapsed or have a risk of collapsing. If your house is safe to live in, please shelter in place at your home. (Please evacuate if there is a risk of flooding or landslide.)

Evacuation flow

Important points to note regarding earthquakes

Create a safe space in your house where you do not put any furniture, etc.

- Secure a safe space inside your house where you can evacuate to.
- If you cannot create such space, rearrange furniture to make it safer.
- To be able to evacuate safely, do not put any objects on corridors and entrances.

Please also take measure to prevent furniture from falling and moving, and broken glasses from scattering. What is most important is to take measures so that you do not get injured when an earthquake happens.

Safety measures at home

Will you be safe in your home in the event of an earthquake? Are there risks in your bedroom and/or living room where a furniture falls on you if a big earthquake occurs? Please secure a bookshelf, refrigerator and other furniture to the wall. By securing kitchen cabinet doors with clasps, you can prevent broken glasses and plates from scattering. You can find these clasps, latches and other device to secure furniture at a hardware store. Many of these devices can be used at a rented home, too, so please install them where possible. In addition, you can make your home earthquake-proof by putting non-slip cloths or sheets in the kitchen cabinet, secure kitchen cabinet doors with tools such as clasps, secure a TV to the wall or pillar in a low position and put a shatterproof film on windowpane and glass parts of furniture so that they will not be scattered in case they break.

1. Tension rods to secure a furniture and prevent from falling down.
2. Poles to secure TV and TV stand to prevent from falling down.
3. Clasps or latches to secure kitchen cabinet doors to prevent broken plates from scattering.

Emergency Stockpile at Home

-Stockpile drinking water for at least 3 days. You need roughly 3 liters per person per day.

Please note that there was water outage in Tsukuba City during the time of Great East Japan Earthquake.

-Things that you usually use.

Foods: Stockpile extra food that you usually eat, instead of special food.

Daily necessities: Always keep extra supplies of toilet papers, tissues, nappies, sanitary napkins, etc.

Medicine: Consult your doctor about what to do in case of an emergency.

-Things that you only use during a disaster.

Please check how to use them, where you stored them, and whether they function at least once a year. (For example, portable gas stove, radio, flashlight, etc.)

★Rolling Stock Method

Rolling Stock is a method to purchase extra foods and daily necessities than usual, consume the oldest items first, and replace them with new items. By repeating this process, you do not have to worry about expiration date, and also can stockpile what you used to eat and use.
